Civil Contractors Federation Australia Partners with PelicanCorp

Civil Contractors Federation Australia (CCFA) is proud to announce a new strategic partnership alliance with PelicanCorp to support the mutual efforts of promoting safer civil construction worksites across Australia.

The alliance will provide both PelicanCorp and the CCFA the opportunity to communicate with over 2,000 members within the civil construction industry, showcasing industry best practice and methods to work safer within the damage prevention and protection of essential infrastructure space. PelicanCorp provides software and services to Utilities, Asset owners and the Dial Before You Dig/One Call industry specifically for the 'Protection of Essential Infrastructure'. For more information on PelicanCorp please visit: <https://www.pelicancorp.com>

CCFA Chief Executive Officer Chris Melham said “CCFA is excited to be teaming up with PelicanCorp in the interests of promoting and contributing to safer and more efficient civil construction sites across Australia. Our 2,000 strong corporate membership is committed to protecting Australia’s critical infrastructure assets and utilities. This will be strengthened through the PelicanCorp-CCFA partnership, through increased education, awareness and utilization of the PelicanCorp suite of software solutions”.

PelicanCorp CEO Duane Rodgers added that “this partnership will leverage both organisations respective strengths in industry knowledge and complementary services ensuring safer worksites across the country. We are excited to be teaming up with CCFA in a partnership that will provide PelicanCorp a platform to share insights to the members of CCFA on the solutions available to increase awareness and improve the exchange of information between contractors and asset owners across Australia – including utilities and government authorities”.

CCFA and PelicanCorp will work together on efforts nationally, to influence policy and management practices for civil construction through joint forums, research of industry best practice and thought leadership.
